A Libeaty Bond Keeps Your Money in America and Sends Your Heart to the Front.

THE SECOND LINE OF DEFENSE

From the Mississippi valley to the flaming front in Flanders is not as far today as the distance from Paris to Berlin. The Atlantic ocean is not as wide as the River Somme. The girl in the munition factory in the middle West is very close to her brother in the front-line trenches. If her work falters, if one minute torpedo passes the careful scrutiny of the inspector, the lives of American soldiers pay the price.

It is as necessary to keep the girl who makes the shells physically fit and high of courage as the man who fires the gun.

The glory and excitement of war are for the men in khaki. Grinding, monotonous labor far away from the firing lines and martial music is the portion of the girl who makes munitions.

One and a half million women and girls have rushed into the service of the United States government, to take the places of the men who have been called to the colors. With every draft and with the opening of every munition cantment the number is multiplied. These girls work long hours and the work is hard and monotonous. Furthermore, they work at high nervous tension. On the skill of their fingers and the accuracy of their eyes depends the lives of brave soldiers, the winning or losing of many battles.

"I can't sleep at night because I'm so afraid I may have passed on something that was not quite true," said one young girl not yet in her twenties, who inspected hundreds of torpedoes every day.

Unless something can make this girl forget at night and find some rest, her hand will lose its cunning.

"Nights and Sundays," said another, "I walk and walk, and I never go the same route twice until I have worn out all the others, and yet I can't forget that perhaps some time, somehow, during the day something may have gone through that was not quite right."

"I was just on the edge of going home," said another, "when I stood it. Then the recreation leader asked me if I played basket ball, and I told her I was too old. I'm twenty-eight. She insisted that I just try throwing the ball, and now I'm captain of the basket ball team. I play tennis, and can 'set up' and 'swing' and they're going to make me forewoman of the room. That would have frightened me to death once. But everything is different now, that we have our War Service club."

The war department had seen the need of occupations for out-of-work hours if the employees were to work at their greatest efficiency, and through the ordinance department asked the Young Women's Christian Association for recreation leaders, to line up the girls and direct their free-time pleasures.

The government reminded the Y. W. C. A. that as an organization it always had had an interest in the right housing of girls, in the right feeding of girls, and in the right education of girls, and that the intelligent care of these girls in the munition factories was one of the essentials in the winning of the war. The government could house and feed them. It could put up recreation buildings, but when this was done it was as helpless as the father of a motherless girl. The government is a composite man. He didn't know what a girl should do when the six o'clock factory whistle blew. He only knew she needed looking after and he called to the one woman's organization that for half a century had made a study of the needs of girls. Vaguely, he had an idea that she should be encouraged to play, that she needed wholesome recreation, and some one, wise and sympathetic as a careful mother, to guide her social activities.

The Blue Triangle sent its play lady to salute and go to work. Workers are asked for in recreation buildings of all the 22 federal industrial reservations. These munition plantments which have been opened this summer in several of the states. These reservations sprung up out of the very fields in a few weeks. They are employing thousands of workers. Many of these women have come from far distant homes. The government provided dormitories and mess barracks. In some places it is putting up recreation buildings. Where such a building is not provided by the government, the Y. W. C. A. will furnish it, using one already standing when available, and building when that is necessary. All these buildings, whether government or association-owned, will operate under the sign of the Blue Triangle. They will have big living rooms, assembly rooms for entertainments, club rooms, and gymnasiums. The Blue Triangle will furnish a program of service work, educational classes, games and entertainments. Military and signal corps drills will be in charge of soldiers.

In Washington, the members of the Business Women's council, a Blue Triangle league of the Y. W. C. A., made up of girl government employees, drill twice a week under an army officer and between five and six o'clock on these days long lines of motorists are parked to watch the drill.

Wherever possible the recreation equipment includes a field somewhere for outdoor sports.

War clubs are a part of the plan and membership in these involves a pledge to serve to the best of the girl's ability in the ranks of the Woman's Industrial Army—the "second line of defense," and a promise of loyalty by promoting in every possible way the spirit of service.

Hun's Last Cent Goes to War

A German Thrift Card. That is what the picture shows. It shows that a German private in the trenches was able to save enough out of his few cents a day wage to lend to his government.

Less than a dime a day! And still he can buy thrift stamps! This thrift card was taken from the body of Emil Schneider, Wurtemberg rifleman, killed by a United States Marine at Chateau Thierry, and is the property of C. A. Hamilton of the Washington staff of the Buffalo Times, whose son is in Europe.

Less than a dime a day! And still he can buy thrift stamps! Let that sink into your mind. Then figure out what you should be putting into Liberty Bonds.

And when you have figured it out—PUT IT INTO THE BONDS.

He Finished Bulgaria. You—?

MAYBE it didn't seem such a very important assignment when General Franchet d'Esperey was sent to the Bulgarian frontier to take charge of the Allied forces there. But Germany echoes, in a different key, the cry of the Allies that nothing in many months has meant a greater step toward hastening complete Allied victory than the defection from the war on the part of Bulgaria.

It practically ends the dream of Germany for control of the East; it pretty nearly cuts off the Turkish army, and it may make possible the re-entry of Serbia into the war.

BUT IT DOESN'T END THE WAR!

The Allied armies must follow this Balkan victory with heavy, hard, steady blows.

That means a tremendous undertaking in the way of supplies, arms, food, defensive and offensive munitions. It is expensive to transport to that point. But it is worth the cost.

Liberty Bonds must make it possible. Will you buy more of them?
